

China Academic Journals (CAJ) Series F, G, H, J

The most comprehensive, full-text database of Chinese journals in the world.

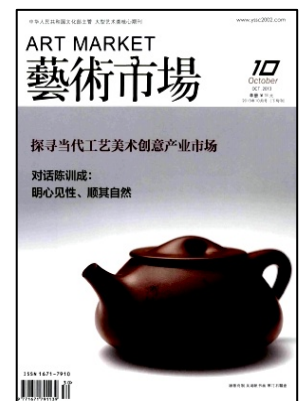

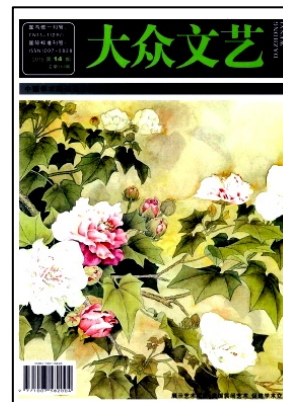

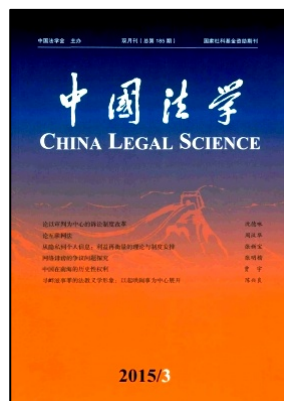

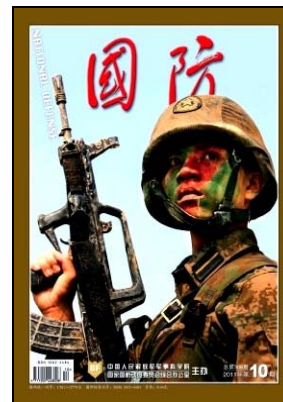

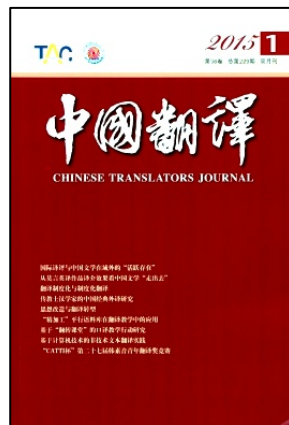

The largest of the China National Knowledge Infrastructure resources, China Academic Journals offers full-text access to 25 million articles from over 4,500 serials published in China since 1994.

CNKI – China National Knowledge Infrastructure

CNKI – the China National Knowledge Infrastructure – is the world's most comprehensive online resource for accessing China's intellectual output. This powerful platform is the product of Tongfang Knowledge Network, Beijing, and encompasses academic journals, dissertations, conference papers, news, and many other resources that put the knowledge of China in the sciences and humanities at your fingertips. CNKI is the foundation for any serious research on China.

Covering literature, history, philosophy, politics, military affairs, law, social science, economics, and more, the China Academic Journals Series F, G, H, and J make up a massive collection that delivers an unprecedented digital library of the most important publications from the People's Republic of China.
