East View Archive Editions East & Southeast Asia Collection

The East View Archive Editions (formerly known as Cambridge Archive Editions) East & Southeast Asia Collection presents rich historical reference materials on political, territorial, and ethnic issues. From the 16th century onward, Great Britain established consulates wherever possible. In East and Southeast Asia, there were British officials in Beijing, Shanghai, Hong Kong, Singapore, Taiwan, Tokyo, and more, all in the effort to further trade relations. The by-product was a steady stream of written information and observations on the national heritage and political development of many countries, made at a local level. These reports were preserved as historically authentic documents in facsimile, as well as numerous maps. The material is particularly rich for the study of boundary formation, claims and disputes, allowing users to easily find unique insight in maps, government documents, and more.

NEW! SOUTH CHINA SEA ISLAND DISPUTES: 1877–1988

Presented on the East View Archive Editions platform, this collection is an assembly of select texts, maps, and official documents from various national archives that present a primary record of multiple international territorial disputes surrounding the South China Sea and its various islands in the period 1877 to 1988.

South China Sea Island Disputes 1877–1988 presents the complex web of history, trade, and diplomatic engagement in this region of multiple, adjacent international interests. Chinese claims purport to go back to the Han Dynasty, while part of the Chinese argument vis-à-vis Vietnam is that the predecessor of the modern Vietnamese state was a Chinese vassal. Some Vietnamese claims hinge on succession to French rights, especially in regard to the Paracel Islands. Relations among some claimants reflect centuries of rivalry and antagonism that have exacerbated the island disputes and have led to armed conflict. The documents presented in the present collection mirror these tensions, the historical and legal context of which is critical to researching the positions of all parties. Learn more: eastview.com/ae-south-china-sea-island-disputes

COMING SOON THE CHINESE SOVIET REPUBLIC: PROTOTYPE FOR A REVOLUTION

This collection of bulletins, letters, telegrams, and other documents originates from the Chinese Soviet Republic, a short-lived communist state founded by Mao Zedong and Zhu De on November 7, 1931, the fourteenth anniversary of Russia's October Revolution. The many thousands of pages of documents gathered by Hoover Institution archivists were microfilmed to preserve them and make them available to scholars worldwide. Nothing of their kind had ever before been available outside China. Because of the tremendous significance of the collection, later known as the Chen Cheng Collection at Hoover, a detailed finding aid was created by Tien-Wei Wu at Harvard University's Harvard-Yenching Library. Mr. Wu's finding aid (completed in 1981) has provided the key organizational structure to the present, digital edition of the Chen Cheng Collection, the first of its kind.
