Independent and Revolutionary Mexican Newspapers An East View GPA CRL Alliance Open Access Collection

The Independent and Revolutionary Mexican Newspapers collection traces the evolution of Mexico during a pivotal, and tumultuous, period. Comprising nearly 1,000 titles from Mexico's pre-independence, independence, and revolutionary periods (1807-1929), the newspapers in this collection provide rare documentation of the dramatic events of this era and include coverage of Mexican partisan politics, yellow press, political and social satire, as well as local, regional, national, and international news. While holdings of many of the newspapers in this collection are available only in very short runs, the titles are often unique and in many cases represent the only existing record of a newspaper's short-lived publication.

The publications that comprise the Independent and Revolutionary Mexican Newspapers collection have been made available by the Nettie Lee Benson Latin American Collection of the University of Texas at Austin. Important contributions were also made by The Latin American Library of Tulane University.

Open Access to this collection is made possible through the generous support of the Center for Research Libraries and its member institutions. Read more: eastview.com/crl-irmn

Global Census Archive®

East View's Global Census Archive (GCA) is an innovative program to collect official data and publications issued by the national census authorities of more than 200 countries, from the early 19th century to the present day, providing a key resource for scholars and analysts to find current and historical census data to support critical research into our changing world.

GCA provides a single online platform experience to explore the world's census publications: all countries and regions, the complete depth of published census materials, including original census publications in e-book form, as well as modern tabular data in Excel format and GIS files for advanced users.

This truly global collection contains all available primary source and official census publications associated with a given census. Presented on a customized platform, GCA currently contains millions of pages of publications and billions of data points in GIS format, with more content continually added as new censuses are produced across the globe.

For Latin America and the Caribbean, GCA includes official census publications for over 40 countries in the region. While some content dates back to 1565, the majority of content ranges from as early as the 1860s to current and includes over 415 censuses, 9,000 items, and two million pages. In addition to census publications, GCA features GIS census data for 19 countries, with coverage starting in 1992.

Digitization Services: Access Your Archives Online

Today's students and faculty increasingly expect access to all the library's resources online at all hours of the day. It's in the DNA of libraries to provide their researchers with the best and most extensive access to information, but the nature of print or microform collections limits access to researchers unable to visit the library during open hours.

Librarians can now devote more time and energy to what they do best – preserving and promoting the intellectual output of their institution – with East View's service solutions, including digitization, preservation, conversion, hosting, and other value-added services.

Digitizing these unique collections helps libraries connect those resources with their researchers and researchers to your resources. Any content owned by the customer institution can be converted into a more accessible online resource through our comprehensive conversion service, which includes digitization and hosting.

East View, a trusted partner to academic libraries since 1989, offers an unmatched array of digital conversion and hosting services for libraries seeking to optimize their balance between physical and digital collections. Our extensive background in digitization's toughest terrain – converting primary source materials OCR'd in non-English, English, and other Roman scripts into full-image scans with searchable full text – makes East View the ideal partner to help libraries define metadata character sets and special collections for area studies.
