OVERVIEW AND BACKGROUND

The Ninth National Population and Fifth National Housing Census in Costa Rica was conducted from June 28, 2000 to July 1, 2000. The 2000 census carried particular importance in Costa Rica due to a 16-year gap between it and the previous population census in 1984, as well as due to new information systems which allowed for accelerated analysis and dissemination of results. In the August 2002 census symposium, scholars from various fields convened to investigate topics such as: education, migration, poverty, social stratification, labor, and housing.
