

Izvestiia Rossiiskoi Akademii Nauk. Seriiia Literaturny iazyka Digital Archive

Leading Russian journal in the fields of literature, linguistics, and philology

Izvestiia Rossiiskoi Akademii Nauk (RAN). Seriiia Literaturny iazyka (Известия Российской Академии наук. Серия литературы и языка, The Bulletin of the Russian Academy of Sciences. Series: Literature and Language), ISSN 1605-7880, is a highly respected academic journal that has been published by the Soviet/Russian Academy of Sciences since 1940. The journal's focus is on research in the fields of literature, linguistics, and philology. It is widely considered to be one of the most prestigious academic publications in Russia.

The scope of the journal includes a broad range of topics related to Russian literature and language. Published six times a year, the journal features original research articles, reviews, and critical essays on literary theory, history of literature, comparative literature, linguistics, and cultural studies.

Authors for the journal include esteemed scholars, experts, and university professors from Russia and abroad, while its distinguished editorial board ensures the quality of the published research. The journal's interdisciplinary approach allows for a wide range of perspectives on the study of Russian literature from its earliest beginnings to contemporary works, and its coverage of linguistics includes a range of approaches, from syntax and semantics to sociolinguistics and discourse analysis.
