Coming Soon!

Explore the rich history of the Korean American community through The Korea Times Digital Archive. Starting out as the Los Angeles bureau of the Seoul-based Hankook Ilbo in 1969, The Korea Times established itself as the leading voice for the Korean diaspora in the 1970s—and has maintained the largest circulation of all Korean-language newspapers in the US ever since.

This archive offers a unique glimpse into key moments in Korean American history, including immigration following the Hart-Cellar Act (1965-), boycotts of Korean-owned businesses (1979), the exoneration of Chol Soo Lee (1983), and the Los Angeles Riots (1992).

The Korea Times continues to serve as an invaluable news source for the Korean diaspora and maintains bureaus across the United States. The Korea Times Digital Archive is the definitive Korean-language newspaper source for scholars interested in the history of Korean immigration to the United States, as well as the current and future history of Korean Americans.

About the Archive

The Korea Times Digital Archive is the only complete FIFT digital archive of this influential Korean émigré title. The archive contains all obtainable published issues from 1970 on, with an additional year’s worth of content added on an annual basis. The archive offers scholars the most comprehensive collection available for this title, and features full page-level digitization, complete original graphics, and searchable text.

The Korea Times Digital Archive is a part of the East View Global Press Archive®, which is the result of a landmark initiative of Stanford Libraries and the Hoover Institution Library & Archives to digitally preserve and make more accessible thousands of original print newspaper publications collected by the Hoover Institution and now housed by Stanford Libraries.
